For that the teachers should continuously update the knowledge and skills of the subjects they teach. About the Seminar

Indo-Anglian fiction has gained momentum and hence has been drawing much attention world over all these years. It has very effective form of literature depicting the society in its true nature. Large volumes of literary works involving various socio-cultural and political themes have been generated by the Indo-Anglian writers quite often. Socio-cultural and political perspectives which become the very core and integral part of Indo-Anglian fiction writings produce very distinctive aspect of literature representing almost every dimension of life such as caste, class, gender, culture, values, morals, beliefs, customs, tradition, language, religion, art, music, etc. Indo-Anglian fiction writing in particular gives an incisive understanding into the intricacies of the diverse aspects in Indian society as reflected in the works of Indo-Anglian writers.

The early Indo-Anglian fiction writings have brought into highlight certain aspects of the reality such as Imperialism, capitalism, religious fundamentalism, cultural hegemony, authoritarian political leadership and dominance of a particular political ideology which influenced the society for long time, starting with pre-independent era. New works of Indo-Anglian literature speaks of larger volume of changes that the society is going through over last many years. The change from autocracy to democracy, from totalitarianism to liberalism, from socialism to individualism, from single dominant culture to multiculturalism and from spiritualism to materialism, in general, representing a phenomenal shift from tradition to modernity in Indian society, has been contemporaneously visible. The whole gamut of Indo-Anglian literature in a way has exposed the hyperposition of religion, politics and dominant culture perpetuating the caste based cultural hegemony in society.
