Changing Dynamics of India's Foreign Policy
Date: 28th September, 2021

About Webinar Theme
Continuity and change are always reflected in the foreign policy of the nations and Indian foreign policy is no exception to it. Recently a few discernible dimensions have emerged in Indian foreign policy, such as economic and technical developments during prevalence now and both domestic and foreign policy have been oriented to achieve these aims. The trends like strengthening defence capability and using it as deterrence via a two fronted neighbours realising the significance of soft power and public diplomacy including digital diplomacy and nation branding have been noticed. Relations with South East Asian nations have been made more vibrant by replacing the Free East policy with the Act East policy.

India has strongly dealt with Chinese aggression and Pakistan's manufacturers on border. Taking a discerning view on the Trade Facilitation Agreement (TFA) in the WTO also shows the strong will to protect the national

About the Seminar

Indo-Anglian fiction has gained momentum and hence has been drawing much attention world over all these years. It has very effective form of literature depicting the society in its true nature. Large volumes of literary works involving various socio-cultural and political themes have been generated by the Indo-Anglian writers quite often. Socio-cultural and political perspectives which become the very core and integral part of Indo-Anglian fiction writings produce very distinctive aspect of literature representing almost every dimension of life such as caste, class, gender, culture, values, morals, beliefs, customs, tradition, language, religion, art, music, etc. Indo-Anglian fiction writing in particular gives an incisive understanding into the intricacies of the diverse aspects in Indian society as reflected in the works of Indo-Anglian writers.

The early Indo-Anglian fiction writings have brought into limelight certain aspects of the reality such as imperialism, capitalism, religious fundamentalism, cultural hegemony, authoritarian political leadership and dominance of a particular political ideology which influenced the society for long time, starting with pre-independent era. New works of Indo-Anglian literature speaks of larger volume of changes that the society is going through over last many years. The change from monarchy to democracy, from totalitarianism to liberalism, from socialism to individualism, from single dominant culture to multiculturalism and from spiritualism to materialism, in general, representing a phenomenal shift from tradition to modernity in Indian society, has been contemporaneously visible. The whole gamut of Indo-Anglian literature in a way has exposed the hypocrisies of religion, politics and dominant culture perpetuating the caste based cultural hegemony in society.
